May 30, 2001

To Our Shareholders,

This was a great year for Rand Capital and we are pleased to share the results with you.

As previously announced, Pathlight Technology was acquired by Advanced Digital Information Corporation (ADIC) on May 11th. Our association with Pathlight began with an investment of $100,000 in 1997. Over the next four years Rand made three additional investments and eventually acquired over 5% of Pathlight, representing Rand's largest investment at 25% of our portfolio. Rand's investments supported Pathlight's execution of their Business Plan. Starting with IBM, their technology was recognized and is now used by the leading storage companies in the world.

Our $1,200,000 investment in Pathlight now represents in excess of $11,500,000 of ADIC stock. This valuation is not reflected in the attached report but will be reflected in our second quarter results. This capital will be added to retained earnings and used for future venture capital investments. Please keep in mind that we will owe taxes and the results are highly dependent on the market price for ADIC and the results of our other investments.

With our increased capital base we are proposing that Rand Capital make an election to become a Business Development Company (BDC). As more fully described in the proxy, the BDC increases our flexibility in making venture capital investments.

The BDC structure also increases our flexibility to operate a Small Business Investment Company (SBIC). Rand has begun the application process for a license to operate an SBIC. This program, which Rand previously operated within, allows participants to use leverage to increase the size and scope of their venture capital investments. If approved, the SBIC program will increase the size of Rand Capital and increase our venture capital portfolio.

The combination of our investment gain with Pathlight Technology, Inc. and the proposed change in our corporate structure to a Business Development Company represent two watershed events, which will allow Rand to enter the new century with increased financial resources and the operating structure to prosper in the new economy.

We hope you share our enthusiasm for the recent events and outlook for the future. The Board of Directors and Management remain committed to increasing shareholder value.

Sincerely,

Reginald B. Newman II /s/ Reginald B. Newman II Chairman Allen F. Grum /s/ Allen F. Grum President

Notes to Portfolio of Investments

(a) Unrestricted securities (indicated by ^) are freely marketable securities having readily available market quotations. All other securities are restricted securities which are subject to one or more restrictions on resale and are not freely marketable. At December 31, 2000, restricted securities represented 97% of the value of the investment portfolio. Deloitte & Touche, LLP has not examined the business descriptions of the portfolio companies.

(b) The Year Acquired line indicates the year in which the Corporation acquired its first investment in the company or a predecessor company.

(c) The equity percentages estimate the corporation's ownership interest in the portfolio investment. The estimated ownership is calculated based on the percent of outstanding voting securities held by the Corporation or the potential percentage of voting securities held by the Corporation or the potential percentage of voting securities held by the Corporation or the potential percentage of voting securities held by the Corporation of debentures or other available data. Deloitte Touche LLP has not audited the equity percentages of the portfolio Companies. The symbol "<1%" indicates that the Corporation holds equity interest of less than one percent.

(d) Under the valuation policy of the Corporation, unrestricted securities are valued at the average closing price for publicly held securities for the last three days of the month. Restricted securities, including securities of publicly-owned companies which are subject to restrictions on resale, are valued at fair value as determined by the Board of Directors. Fair value is considered to be the amount which the Corporation may reasonably expect to receive for portfolio securities if such securities were sold on the valuation date. Valuations as of any particular date, however, are not necessarily indicative of amounts which may ultimately be realized as a result of future sales or other dispositions of securities. Among the factors considered by the Board of Directors in determining the fair value of restricted securities are the financial condition and operating results, projected operations, and other analytical data relating to the investment. Also considered are the market prices for unrestricted securities of the same class (if applicable) and other matters which may have an impact on the value of the portfolio company.

(e) These investments are income producing. All other investments are non-income producing.

(f) See Note 2 to the financial statements.

(g) Income Tax information – As of December 31, 2000, the aggregate cost of investment securities approximated $6,001,000. Net unrealized appreciation aggregated approximately $1,133,000, of which $2,577,000 related to appreciated investment securities and $1,444,000 related to depreciated investment securities.

Notes to Financial Statements Years Ended December 31, 2000 and 1999

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Nature of the Business - The Corporation operates as a closed-end management investment company registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940. It is a publicly held venture capital company, listed on the NASDAQ Small Cap Market under the symbol "Rand". The Company was founded in 1969 and is headquartered in Buffalo, New York. The Corporation's investment strategy is to provide expansion capital and investment, as well as investment banking and financial advisory services, to companies both inside and outside of the Western New York community.

Investments - Investments are stated at fair value as determined in good faith by the Board of Directors, as described in the Notes to Schedule of Portfolio Investments on page 5. Certain investment valuations have been determined by the Board of Directors in the absence of readily ascertainable fair values. The estimated valuations are not necessarily indicative of amounts which may ultimately be realized as a result of future sales or other dispositions of securities, and these favorable or unfavorable differences could be material. Amounts reported as realized gains and losses are measured by the difference between the proceeds of sale or exchange and the cost basis of the investment without regard to unrealized gains or losses reported in prior periods. The cost of securities that have, in the Directors' judgment, become worthless, are written off and reported as realized losses.

Cash and Cash Equivalents - Temporary cash investments having a maturity of three months or less when purchased are considered to be cash equivalents.

Interest Income - Interest income generally is recorded on the accrual basis except where the investment is valued at less than cost to reflect risk of loss. In such cases, interest is recorded at the time of receipt. A reserve for possible losses on interest receivable is maintained when appropriate.

Net Assets per Share - Net assets per share are based on the number of shares of common stock outstanding.

Use of Estimates - The preparation of the financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reporting amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

2. Subsequent Event

Rand Capital Corporation announced on February 1, 2001 that its investment portfolio will be materially affected from the acquisition of Pathlight Technology, Inc. "Pathlight"- by Advanced Digital Information Corporation (Nasdaq: ADIC). ADIC has signed a definitive agreement to acquire Pathlight in a stock pooling transaction, whereby Pathlight shareholders will receive 10.3 million shares of ADIC, valued at $265 million at the time of the announcement. The Corporation owns approximately 5% of Pathlight, with a cost basis of approximately $1.2 million and will receive shares of ADIC in exchange for its Pathlight shares. Based on the announced transaction value, Rand's net assets are estimated to increase in excess of $10.0 million (pre-tax). Pathlight's acquisition by ADIC will require SEC review, and the ADIC shares to be received by the Corporation will bear certain restrictions on sale and be subject to market price volatility.

3. Income Taxes

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recorded for temporary differences between the financial statement and tax bases of assets and liabilities using the currently enacted tax rate expected to be in effect when the taxes are actually paid or recovered.

The tax effect of the major temporary difference and carryforwards that give rise to the Corporation's net deferred tax assets at December 31, 2000 and 1999 are as follows:

	2000	1	999

The net deferred tax assets are presented in the statements of financial position as follows:

A reconciliation of the benefit for income taxes at the federal statutory rate to the benefit reported is as follows:

Valuation Allowance	. ,	-	168,6	50
Total	$ 424,608		$ 11,388

Deferred income tax (benefit) of approximately $389,000 and $(319,000) at December 31, 2000 and 1999, respectively, relate to net unrealized appreciation (depreciation) of investments. Such appreciation (depreciation) is not included in taxable income until realized.

At December 31, 2000 and 1999, the Corporation had a federal and state net operating loss carryforward of approximately $2,720,000 and $2,160,000, respectively, which expire commencing in 2007.

The Corporation has established a valuation allowance against the deferred tax asset in the event that the tax asset may not be realized prior to its expiration. Management of the Corporation considers, among other things, its estimates of projected taxable income in making this assessment.

4. Stockholders' Equity

At December 31, 2000 and 1999, there were 500,000 shares of $10 par value preferred stock authorized and unissued.

On January 21, 2000 and October 2, 2000, the Corporation sold 15,000 and 25,000 shares of common stock through a private stock offering at $1.33 and $1.51 per share, respectively.

Independent Auditors Report Deloitte & Touche LLP

To the Board of Directors and Stockholders Rand Capital Corporation Buffalo, New York

We have audited the accompanying statements of financial position of Rand Capital Corporation (the "Corporation") as of December 31, 2000 and 1999, including the schedule of portfolio investments as of December 31, 2000, and the related statements of operations and changes in net assets for the years then ended, and the selected per share data and ratios for each of the five years in the period then ended. These financial statements and the selected per share data and ratios are the responsibility of the Corporation's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements and selected per share data and ratios based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements and selected per share data and ratios are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements and selected per share data and ratios. Our procedures included examination or confirmation of securities owned as of December 31, 2000, and 1999. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements and selected per share data and ratios referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Rand Capital Corporation as of December 31, 2000, and 1999 the results of its operations and changes in net assets for the years then ended and the selected per share data and ratios for each of the five years in the period then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

As explained in Note 1, the financial statements include securities valued at $7,133,927 (85% of net assets) and $5,319,399 (70% of net assets), as of December 31, 2000 and 1999, respectively, whose fair values have been estimated by the Board of Directors in the absence of readily ascertainable fair values. We have reviewed the procedures used by the Board of Directors in arriving at its estimate of fair value of such securities and have inspected underlying documentation. In our opinion, those procedures are reasonable, and the documentation is appropriate to determine the securities' estimated fair values. The estimated valuations, however, are not necessarily indicative of the amounts which may ultimately be realized as a result of future sales or other dispositions of securities, and these favorable or unfavorable differences could be material.

Our audits were conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements Taken as a whole. The supplemental schedule of changes in investments at cost and realized loss for the year ended December 31, 2000 is presented for the purpose of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements. This supplemental schedule is the responsibility of the Corporation's management. Such schedule has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in our audits of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects when considered in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.
