Proxy Statement

GENERAL INFORMATION

We are furnishing this Proxy Statement in connection with the solicitation of proxies by the Board of Directors of Rand Capital Corporation for the Annual Meeting of Shareholders to be held on April 30, 2009. Only shareholders of record at the close of business on March 6, 2009, are entitled to notice of and to vote at the meeting, and at any adjournment thereof. On that date Rand had outstanding 5,718,934 Common Shares, par value $.10 per share ("shares").

Each share entitles the holder to one vote. Shares cannot be voted at the meeting unless the shareholder is present or represented by proxy. If the enclosed form of proxy is returned properly executed, the shares represented thereby will be voted at the meeting in accordance with the instructions contained in the proxy, unless the proxy is revoked prior to its exercise. Any shareholder may revoke a proxy by executing a subsequently dated proxy or a notice of revocation, provided that the subsequent proxy or notice is delivered to us prior to the taking of a vote, or by voting in person at the meeting.

Under the New York Business Corporation Law (the "BCL") and our by-laws, the presence, in person or by proxy, of the holders of a majority of the outstanding stock is necessary to constitute a quorum of the shareholders to take action at the annual meeting. The shares that are present at the meeting or represented by a proxy will be counted for quorum purposes. Proxies submitted with abstentions and broker non-votes will be counted in determining whether or not a quorum is present. Under the BCL and our by-laws, once a quorum is established, Directors standing for election may be elected by a plurality of the votes cast.

This Proxy Statement and accompanying form of proxy are being mailed to shareholders on or about April 3, 2009. A copy of Rand's 2008 Annual Report, which contains financial statements, accompanies this Proxy Statement.

We will bear the cost of soliciting proxies in the accompanying form. We do not expect to pay any compensation for the solicitation of proxies, but may pay brokers, nominees, fiduciaries and other custodians their reasonable fees and expenses for sending proxy materials to beneficial owners and obtaining their instructions. In addition to solicitation by mail, our Directors, officers and employees may solicit proxies in person or by telephone, and they will receive no additional compensation therefore.

Our office is located at 2200 Rand Building, Buffalo, New York 14203; telephone number 716-853-0802.

PROPOSAL 1. ELECTION OF DIRECTORS

Seven Directors are to be elected at the meeting, each to serve until the next annual meeting of shareholders and until his or her successor has been elected and qualified. Unless marked to the contrary, the proxies received will be voted FOR the election of the seven nominees below.

Each of the nominees is presently a member of the Board of Directors and was recommended for election by the Governance and Nominating Committee, which is comprised of non-management, independent Directors. Each of the nominees has consented to serve as a Director, if elected. If at the time of the meeting any nominee should be unable to serve, it is the intention of the persons designated as proxies to vote, in their discretion, for such other person as may be designated as a nominee by the Board of Directors. Each of the nominees was elected at Rand's last Annual Meeting of Shareholders.

Director Independence

The Board of Directors affirmatively determined that four of the six non-management Directors, Erland E. Kailbourne, Ross B. Kenzie, Jayne K. Rand and Robert M. Zak are "Independent Directors" under the rules of the SEC and under the rules and guidelines of the National Association of Security Dealers (NASD) for NASDAQ listed companies and, therefore, that a majority of a corporation's seven-person Board of Directors is currently independent as so defined. The Board of Directors has determined that there are no relationships between Rand and the Directors classified as independent other than service on its Board of Directors and compensation paid to Directors.

Three of the Directors are deemed to be "Interested Persons" under Section 2(a)(19) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 with respect to Rand: Allen F. Grum because he is an executive officer of Rand, and Willis S. McLeese and Reginald B. Newman, II, because each of them beneficially owns more than 5% of Rand's outstanding common shares. Persons who are Interested Persons are not independent Directors under the rules and guidelines of the NASD.

The independence determination of the Board of Directors under the SEC rules and under the NASD rules and guidelines also included conclusions of the Board of Directors that:

- each of the members of the Audit Committee and of the Governance and Nominating Committee, and a majority of the members of the Compensation Committee are independent under the standards described above for purposes of membership on each of those committees;
- the 2008 compensation of the executive officers was determined by a majority of the independent Directors of the Board; and
- each of the members of the Audit Committee also meets the additional independence requirements under SEC Rule 10A-3(b) and NASDAQ Rule 4350(d).

Proxy Statement Rand Capital Corporation

As the Chair of the Governance and Nominating Committee, Mr. Kailbourne will serve as the chair of meetings of Independent Directors. It is currently contemplated that "executive sessions" of the Independent Directors will occur at least twice during the fiscal year ended December 31, 2009, in addition to separate meetings of standing committees of the Board of Directors.

Shareholder Communications

Communications to an individual Director, to non-management Directors as a group, or to the entire Board, should be addressed as follows: Reginald B. Newman, II, Security Holder Board Communications, 2200 Rand Building, Buffalo, New York, 14203, with an indication of the individual or subgroup (if any) to whose attention the communication is directed. All security holder communications addressed in that manner will be delivered directly to Mr. Newman, who will receive communications for the Board and non-management Directors, and who will deliver the communication unopened to any individual indicated Director.

Meeting Attendance

Last year all Directors attended the Annual Meeting of Stockholders, and they are expected to do so this year. A meeting of the Board of Directors will take place on the same day and at the same place as the Annual Meeting of Stockholders, and Directors are expected to attend all Board and Committee meetings of Rand and the annual meeting of shareholders, but such attendance is not required.

COMPENSATION DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

Rand's President, Executive Vice President, Controller and Office Manager are salaried employees of Rand. Rand pays the salaries and other employee benefits of these employees. Rand has a wholly owned subsidiary, Rand Capital SBIC, Inc. ("Rand SBIC", formerly Rand Capital SBIC, L.P.) The President and the Executive Vice President serve as the Management and Investment Committee of the subsidiary and they are parties to a Profit Sharing Plan of Rand SBIC that was adopted by Rand as a requirement for the licensing of Rand SBIC as a Small Business Investment Company.

Rand's principal executive officers are its President, Allen F. Grum, and its Executive Vice President/Chief Financial Officer, Daniel P. Penberthy.

The Compensation Committee, a majority of which are independent members of the Board, advises the Board of Directors with respect to the compensation of the principal executive officers. The Compensation Committee recommendations are then reviewed by the independent members of the Board, who are then responsible for establishing such compensation. Rand's President is responsible for the compensation levels of its Controller and Office Manager.

Introduction

This Compensation Discussion and Analysis is designed to provide shareholders with an understanding of our compensation philosophy and objectives as well as the analysis that we performed in setting executive compensation. It discusses the Compensation Committee's determination of how and why, in addition to what, compensation actions were taken for the Named Executive Officers ("NEOs") who are identified in the Summary Compensation Table.

Objectives of Rand's Compensation Programs and What they are Designed to Reward

For its long-term success and the enhancement of long-term stockholder value, Rand depends on the management and analytical abilities of its NEOs, who are employees of, and are compensated by, Rand. The Compensation Committee's compensation objectives are to provide a critical oversight function of compensation and appropriate levels of compensation, reward above average corporate performance, recognize individual initiative and achievement, assist Rand in attracting and retaining qualified management to contribute to its success, and motivate management to enhance stockholder value.

Key Elements of Rand's Compensation Plans and Why they are Paid

- Base Salary — Our philosophy is that base salaries should meet the objectives of attracting and retaining the executive officers needed to successfully manage the business. Actual individual salary amounts are not determined by formulas, but instead reflect the Committee's judgment with respect to each executive officer's responsibility, performance, experience, and historical compensation, internal equity considerations and other factors, including any retention concerns. Rand sets a base salary for its executive officers at levels that are intended to be appropriate given the scope of their duties and responsibilities.

- Bonus – Rand may pay annual bonuses to executive officers at levels that are intended to motivate them to achieve Rand’s principal business and investment goals and to bring their total compensation to competitive levels. The bonus is based on a qualitative consideration of individual and company performance. The Committee considers, and may make appropriate adjustments for, unusual items that were not included in the Corporation’s budget and are deemed to be outside the control of the executives.
- Profit Sharing Plan – Rand provides long-term incentives to its executive officers through its Profit Sharing Plan, which allows them to participate in the growth of its portfolios and aligns their long term interests with those of Rand’s shareholders. The terms of Rand’s license to maintain its SBIC subsidiary require that it maintain a Profit Sharing Plan, which provides for payment by Rand of designated percentages of the net realized capital gains of Rand SBIC. The Committee does not have discretion to change the amounts due under the Plan.
- Equity – Although we believe that equity ownership by management aligns management’s interests with increasing stockholder value, restrictions imposed by the Investment Company Act preclude Rand from offering stock options or other equity incentives to its executive officers at any time when it also allows them to participate in a profit sharing plan. Rand has a stock option plan that was adopted in 2001 (see “Option Plan,” below), but no options have been or will be granted under it while the Profit Sharing Plan is in effect.
- Standard Employee Benefits – Rand also provides standard employee benefits that are considered appropriate to provide competitive employee compensation and necessary to attract and retain talented personnel. Rand maintains a 401(k) Plan for its employees. Under the plan, participants may elect to contribute up to 20% of their compensation on a pretax basis, to a maximum of $16,500 for 2009. Rand makes a flat contribution of 1% of compensation for each participant and matches participant contributions up to 5% of compensation. Rand may also elect to contribute annual discretionary amounts under the 401(k) Plan as determined by the Board. Rand also provides life insurance and automobile reimbursement benefits to its NEOs.

How the Amounts of Each Element of the Compensation are Determined and How They Fit Into Rand’s Overall Compensation Objectives

Salary and Bonus

The Compensation Committee determined that the salary and bonuses paid to Rand employees during the 2008 fiscal year were at levels that were in the best interests of shareholders. In making its determination, the Compensation Committee considered whether the salaries and bonuses paid by Rand to its executive officers were consistent with the compensation philosophies described above.

The Analysis Used in Setting Compensation Levels

When making compensation decisions for individual executive officers, the Committee takes many factors into account, including the individual’s role and responsibilities, performance, tenure, and experience; the overall performance of the Corporation; the recommendations of Board

Proxy Statement Rand Capital Corporation

Committee Chairs; the individual's historical compensation; and comparison to other executive officers of the Corporation. The Corporation did not utilize any benchmarking or performance targets to set its compensation levels.

Specifically, the Committee has considered factors such as:

- total compensation in relation to Rand's size, and the composition and performance of its investments;
- Rand's success in identifying appropriate investment opportunities and returns on its investments;
- the value of Rand's assets; including changes resulting from the implementation of Statements of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) 157 "fair value measurement",
- the responsibilities and duties of the executive officers, and
- whether there has been any adjustment or potential recovery of prior award payments resulting from the restatement of prior performance measures upon which the awards were based. No such adjustments or recovery has occurred during the year.

Evaluating Performance

The Committee evaluates the performance of the NEOs on an annual basis, and consults with the other Directors and Committee Chairs regarding the performance. The Committee also seeks the advice of the President in connection with the performance evaluation for other NEOs; however, the President is not present when the Committee meets to evaluate his performance and determine his compensation.

Individual Performance

The Committee uses discretion in a qualitative evaluation of individual performance and considers the following factors, among others, in approving the annual incentive awards of the NEOs: the input of other Board Committee Chairs, the NEOs leadership, management, strategic planning, business development, and investment returns.

Change of Control and Termination Benefits

The Corporation does not provide any employment contracts, change of control and/or termination benefits.

Accounting and Tax Treatments of Compensation

The Committee's policy is to structure compensation that will be fully deductible where doing so will further the purposes of executive compensation programs. The Committee also considers it important to retain flexibility to design compensation programs that recognize a full range of criteria important to Rand's success, even where compensation payable under the programs may not be fully deductible.

Profit Sharing Plan

We believe Rand's provisions for salaries and bonuses create an appropriate focus on longer-term objectives and promote executive retention. We also believe that the Profit Sharing Plan is an effective means of promoting long-term shareholder value and providing for executive retention.

Under the Profit Sharing Plan, Rand will pay its NEOs aggregate profit sharing payments equal to 12% of the net realized capital gains of Rand SBIC, net of all realized capital losses and unrealized depreciation, for the fiscal year, computed in accordance with the Plan and Rand's interpretation of such policies.

The profit sharing payments will be split equally between Rand's two NEOs, who are fully vested in the Plan. Under Investment Company Act requirements, the aggregate amount of benefits which may be paid or accrued under the Profit Sharing Plan and any other profit sharing plan maintained by Rand during any fiscal year may not in any event exceed 20% of Rand's net income after taxes for that fiscal year. In accordance with Investment Company Act requirements, a majority of the members of the Board who were not Interested Persons approved the Profit Sharing Plan on the basis that it is reasonable and fair to Rand's shareholders, does not involve overreaching of Rand or its shareholders on the part of any person concerned, and is consistent with the interests of the shareholders of Rand.

No payments have been made or accrued under the Profit Sharing Plan since its inception in 2002.

Conclusion

Through the compensation and incentive structure described above, a significant portion of the amounts that may be payable as compensation have been, and will continue to be, contingent on Rand's performance, and realization of incentive benefits is closely linked to increases in long-term shareholder value. Rand remains committed to this philosophy of pay for performance, recognizing that the competitive market for talented executives and the volatility of Rand's business may result in highly variable compensation from year to year.

Based on the factors identified, the independent members of the Board approved the 2009 salary levels of the Named Executive Officers in January 2009. Based on the same factors, in January 2009 the Independent Directors approved bonuses of $5,000 payable to each of Mr. Grum and Mr. Penberthy for their services in 2008. Rand accrued these amounts in its 2008 financial statements.

- (1) Mr. Grum is Rand's principal executive officer, and Mr. Penberthy is Rand's principal financial officer. Neither of them has an employment contract with Rand.
- (2) Represent amounts earned, prior to employee 401(k) contributions made by named executive, as described in footnote (4).
- (3) Bonuses were accrued by Rand at December 31, 2008 and paid in 2009. Bonuses for December 31, 2007 were paid in 2008 and for December 31, 2006 were paid in 2007.
- (4) Included within the indicated compensation payment are contributions by Rand to its 401(k) Plan, which is available to all Rand employees. Under the 401(k) Plan, participants may elect to contribute up to 20% of their compensation on a pretax basis by salary reduction up to a maximum of $15,500 for 2008. For eligible employees, Rand makes a flat contribution of 1% of compensation and matches employee contributions of up to a maximum of 5%. In addition, Rand may elect to contribute an annual discretionary amount as determined by the Board of Directors. In 2008, Rand did not make a discretionary contribution to the 401(k) Plan.
- (5) Amount indicated includes the cost of life insurance, disability insurance and business automobile reimbursement benefits. In 2007 for Mr. Penberthy, the aggregate amount of such compensation was $7,055. In 2006, the aggregate amount of such compensation was less than $10,000 for each Rand executive.

(6) The total of salary and bonus for each named executive officer is greater than 86% of total compensation for each period listed.

Option Plan

Rand does not have any outstanding equity awards, options or stock vesting rights.

In July 2001, Rand's shareholders approved an Employee Stock Option Plan (the "Option Plan"). The Option Plan provides for the award of options to purchase up to 200,000 common shares to eligible employees. In 2002, Rand placed the Option Plan on inactive status as it developed its Profit Sharing Plan in connection with the establishment of its SBIC subsidiary. As of December 31, 2008, no stock options had been awarded under the Plan.

Because Section 57(n) of the Investment Company Act prohibits maintenance of a profit sharing plan for the officers and employees of a Business Development Company when any option, warrant or right is outstanding under an executive compensation plan, no options will be granted under the Option Plan while the Profit Sharing Plan is in effect.

Pension Benefits

Rand does not provide any tax-qualified defined benefit plan or supplemental executive retirement plan, or similar plan that provides for specified retirement payments or benefits.

DIRECTOR COMPENSATION

During 2008, under Rand's standard compensation arrangements with Directors, the Chairman of the Board received an annual Chairman retainer of $5,000; each non-employee Director received an annual fee of $5,000 plus $1,000 for attendance at each meeting of the Board of Directors. Audit Committee members received $750 for each meeting attended and Compensation Committee and Governance and Nominating Committee members received $500 for each meeting attended. If a Board and/or Committee member attends a meeting telephonically, the member will receive half of the meeting fee. Rand reimburses Directors for reasonable out of pocket expenses incurred in attending meetings of the Board.

The following table sets forth information with respect to the compensation paid to or earned by each Director, excluding named executive officers, for the 2008 fiscal year. Rand did not pay or accrue any other compensation to the following Directors for the 2008 fiscal year.

Section 16(a) Beneficial Ownership Compliance

Section 16(a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 requires Rand's Directors and executive officers, and persons who own more than ten percent of Rand's stock, to file with the Securities and Exchange Commission initial reports of stock ownership and reports of changes to stock ownership. Reporting persons are required by SEC regulations to furnish Rand with all Section 16(a) reports they file.

To our knowledge, based solely on review of the copies of such reports furnished to Rand and written representations that no other reports were required, the Corporation believes all Section 16(a) filing requirements applicable to its officers, Directors and greater than ten percent beneficial owners were complied with during the fiscal year ended December 31, 2008.

Directors' and Officer's Liability Insurance

Rand has an insurance policy from National Union Fire Insurance Co. of Pittsburgh, PA that indemnifies (1) Rand for any obligation incurred as a result of its indemnification of its Directors and officers under the provisions of the New York Business Corporation Law and Rand's by-laws, and (2) Rand's Directors and officers as permitted under the New York State Business Corporation Law and Rand's by-laws. The policy covers all Directors and officers of Rand for the 12 months ending December 2009 for a total premium of $41,469. No sums have been paid to Rand or its officers under the insurance contract.

PROPOSAL 2 TO AUTHORIZE SALES OF OUR COMMON STOCK UNDER CERTAIN CONDITIONS DURING A ONE YEAR PERIOD AT PRICES BELOW THEN CURRENT NET ASSET VALUE PER SHARE

Stockholder Authorization

The 1940 Act generally prohibits us, as a business development company, or BDC, from selling shares of our common stock at a price below the then current net asset value per share of our stock, with certain exceptions. One exception to this general restriction would permit us to offer and sell shares of our common stock at a price below net asset value per share at the time of sale if our shareholders have approved sales below net asset value per share within the one year period immediately prior to any such sale, and provided that our Board of Directors makes certain determinations about the advisability and fairness of the sale before it is made.

Accordingly, we are seeking the approval of our shareholders so that we may, in one or more public or private offerings, offer and sell shares of our common stock at prices below our then-current net asset value per share, subject to certain conditions discussed below. If approved, the authorization would be effective for a period expiring on the earlier of one year after the date of this Annual Meeting and the date of our 2010 Annual Meeting of Shareholders and would permit us to engage in such transactions at various times within that period subject to further approval from the Board of Directors.

Generally, common stock offerings are priced based on the market prices of currently outstanding shares of common stock. Shareholder approval of this proposal would permit us to offer and sell shares of our common stock in accordance with pricing standards that market conditions may require. If the holders of a majority of our outstanding common shares, and the holders of a majority of our outstanding common shares who are not affiliated persons of the Company, approve this proposal, the authority provided will give us greater flexibility in taking advantage of changing market and financial conditions in connection with an equity offering. As of the date of this Proxy Statement, the Board has approved making an offering of this type in principle if the circumstances should warrant doing so, but it has not approved the terms of a specific offering, nor does it have any immediate plans to do so.

Proxy Statement Rand Capital Corporation

Reasons to Offer Common Stock Below Net Asset Value

We believe that market conditions will continue to provide opportunities to invest new capital at potentially attractive returns. Over the past several months, U.S. credit markets, including credit facilities provided by many lending institutions, have experienced significant disruptions resulting in large part from the default in payments on sub-prime residential mortgages and general concerns about the decline in the U.S. economy. These disruptions have contributed to significant stock price volatility for capital providers such as our Company and have made access to capital more challenging for many smaller businesses. However, the change in credit market conditions also has created opportunities for capital providers like us because small businesses are selling for lower prices, and they are generally willing to pay higher interest rates and to accept more contractual terms that are more favorable to us in their investment agreements. Accordingly, for firms that continue to have access to capital, we believe that the current environment should provide investment opportunities on more favorable terms than have been available in prior years. Our ability to take advantage of these opportunities is dependent upon our access to equity capital.

As a BDC, we primarily rely on our ability to raise capital through the issuance of common stock. Therefore, to continue to build our investment portfolio, we endeavor to maintain consistent access to capital through the public and private equity markets to enable us to take advantage of investment opportunities as they arise.

Although our common stock traded at a premium to its net asset value during 2007, during 2006 and most of 2008 our common stock traded in a range that was below the then current net asset value per share. The following table shows the per share net asset value of our shares at the end of each quarter, the reported high and low closing prices for our common stock for each quarter, and the closing price as a percentage of net asset value as of the end of each quarter. On March 6, 2009, the last reported closing price of our common stock was $3.60 per share.

- (1) Net asset value per share is determined as of the last day in the relevant quarter and, therefore, may not reflect the net asset value per share on the date of the high and low closing prices. The per share net asset values shown are based on outstanding shares at the end of each period.
- (2) Calculated as the difference between the net asset value per share and the respective high or low closing prices as reported by NASDAQ, divided by net asset value per share.

The current volatility in the credit markets and the uncertainty surrounding the U.S. economy have led to significant stock market fluctuations, particularly with respect to the stock of financial services companies like ours. During times of increased price volatility, our common stock may be more likely to trade at a price below its net asset value per share, which is not uncommon for BDCs. As noted above, however, the current market dislocation has created, and we believe will continue to create, favorable opportunities to invest in small businesses, including opportunities that we believe may increase net asset value over the longer-term, even if financed by the issuance of common stock at prices below current net asset value per share. We believe that stockholder approval of the proposal to sell shares below net asset value per share subject to the conditions detailed below will provide us with the flexibility to invest in such opportunities.

The Board of Directors believes that having the flexibility to issue our common stock below net asset value per share in certain instances is in the best interests of stockholders. If we are unable to access the capital markets as attractive investment opportunities arise, our ability to grow over time could be adversely affected. The inability to raise capital through timely sales of common stock could also have the effect of forcing us to sell assets that we would not otherwise sell, and such sales could occur at times that are disadvantageous to sell. The issuance of additional common stock may also have the effect of enhancing liquidity of our common stock on the NASDAQ Capital Market.

Conditions to Sales below Net Asset Value

If this proposal is approved, we would not sell our common stock below its per share net asset value unless our Board of Directors reasonably believes there are attractive investment opportunities that will lead to a long-term increase in net asset value. Moreover, the 1940 Act provides that, in addition to the approval of shareholders sought by this proposal, the following conditions must be met before Rand could engage in any sale of common stock at a price below per share net asset value:

- both a majority of Directors who do not have any financial interest in the offering and a majority of Directors who are not “interested persons” with respect to Rand would have to approve the proposed sale; and
- both a majority of Directors who do not have any financial interest in the offering and a majority of Directors who are not “interested persons” with respect to Rand, in consultation with the underwriters of the offering if it is underwritten, would have to determine in good faith, as of a time immediately prior to the first solicitation of firm commitments to purchase the shares or immediately prior to the issuance of the shares, that the price at which the shares are to be sold is not less than a price that closely approximates the market value of the shares, less any distributing commission or discount.

The term “interested person” is defined under the 1940 Act to generally include anyone who is affiliated with a company or related to an affiliated person, any officer or employee of the company, or any person who has recently had any of certain types of business dealings with the company.

Impact on Existing Stockholders Who Do Not Participate in the Offering Resulting from the Dilutive Effect of the Issuance of Shares Below Net Asset Value

Our existing stockholders who do not participate in an offering below Net Asset Value (NAV) per share or who do not buy additional shares in the secondary market at the same or lower price we obtain in the offering (after expenses and commissions) face the greatest potential dilution. These stockholders will experience an immediate decrease (often called dilution) in the NAV of the shares they hold and their NAV per share. These stockholders will also experience a disproportionately greater decrease in their participation in our earnings and assets and their voting power than the increase we will experience in our assets, potential earning power and voting interests due to the offering. These stockholders may also experience a decline in the market price of their shares, which often reflects to some degree announced or potential increases and decreases in NAV per share. This decrease could be more pronounced as the size of the offering and level of discounts increases.

The following table illustrates the level of net asset value dilution that would be experienced by a nonparticipating stockholder in three different hypothetical offerings of different sizes and levels of discount from net asset value per share, although it is not possible to predict the level of market price decline that may occur. Actual sales prices, discounts, expenses and commissions (if any) may differ from the presentation below

The example assumes that the issuer has 5,700,000 common shares outstanding, $32,000,000 in total assets and $12,000,000 in total liabilities. The current NAV and NAV per share under this example are $20,000,000 and $3.51 respectively. The chart illustrates the dilutive effect on nonparticipating Stockholder A of:

1. an offering of 285,000 shares (5% of the outstanding shares) at $3.33 per share after offering expenses and commission (a 5% discount from NAV).

Key Shareholder Considerations

Before voting on this proposal or giving proxies with regard to this matter, shareholders should consider the potentially dilutive effect of the issuance of shares of our common stock at a price that is less than the net asset value per share, and should also consider the effect that the expenses associated with such issuance may have on the net asset value per outstanding share of our common stock. Any sale of common stock at a price below net asset value per share would result in an immediate dilution to existing common shareholders. If shares of our common stock are issued at a price that is substantially below the net asset value per share, the dilution could be substantial. This dilution would include reduction in the net asset value per share and a proportionately greater decrease in a shareholder's interest in Rand's earnings, assets, and voting power, than the increase in our assets resulting from the issuance and sale of the shares. In addition, any payment of underwriting compensation and other offering expenses could further increase the dilution. The Board of Directors will consider the potential dilutive effect of the issuance of shares at a price below the net asset value per share when considering whether to authorize any such issuance.

The 1940 Act establishes a connection between common share sale price and net asset value per share because, when stock is sold at a sale price below net asset value per share, the resulting increase in the number of outstanding shares is not accompanied by a proportionate increase in the net assets of the issuer. Further, if our current shareholders do not purchase enough shares to maintain their relative percentage interests, then regardless of whether the offering is above or below then current net asset value, their voting power will be diluted.

Rand will not sell shares under an offering if the cumulative dilution of the Corporation's NAV per share under the offering exceeds 15%. This would be measured separately for each offering by multiplying the difference between the most recently calculated NAV per share prior to such offering and the public offering price in such offering, times the number of shares sold in the offering, and then dividing the sum of such amounts for all such offerings by the aggregate NAV of Rand's outstanding common shares determined prior to the first such offering.

Sales by us of our common stock at a discount from NAV pose potential risks for our existing stockholders whether or not they participate in the offering, as well as for new investors who participate in the offering.

Rand will immediately stop selling, ceasing its proposed stock offering activities, if subsequent information is identified that would cause Rand's financial statements or offering documents to be misleading to investors. Rand will also file a post-effective amendment or other required documents with the SEC, in addition to amending its offering documents to reflect the material changes that are identified.

Rand will immediately stop selling, ceasing its proposed stock offering activities, if the Corporation receives, or anticipates receiving, a going-concern, qualified, or other adverse opinion on its financial statements, based upon which we are selling securities. Rand will also then file a post-effective amendment or other required documents with the SEC, in addition to amending its offering documents to reflect such events.
